

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to the field of medium temperature plasma production device with a novelty where the plasma is created and transferred convectively to a part.